

RICH HONDURAS LUNGS IN JAIL

Exile Receives Letter Telling Him of Dreadful Condi- tions in Native Land.

Political prisoners are crowded four in a cell in Tegucigalpa, Honduras, and in the prisons of the country are uncomfortably full, according to the statements of Dr. Timoteo Miralanda, a Honduran exile, who has received letters from friends in that country. The letters state that hundreds of the leading families of the country, once people of wealth, station, and good social position, are in misery because of the persecutions of the existing government. These persons are professional men, former officeholders and men of property, and it is said their estates have been confiscated because they espoused the cause of Gen. Manuel Bonilla in the revolution of last July.

"The jails of every department are filled with prisoners," Dr. Miralanda said. "In the prisons of the department of Santa Rosa de Copan are 148 prisoners, all from the most prominent families of that section. All of the young men of the district are incarcerated. Among them are five lawyers. In the department of Ocotepeque are 31 prisoners, all prominent landowners and professional men. In the department of Choluteca are 60 prisoners, in Celiba are 50 prisoners. The penitentiary at Tegucigalpa is completely full, there being four prisoners in each cell. All of these unfortunate are connected with the most honorable families of the nation."

"We of Honduras believe that we have a just cause for hatred of the government of Jose Santos Zelaya. When he conquered the army of General Bonilla he assumed the position that all of the goods, money and merchandise in the country became his, passing with the title to Honduras. The army drove off 40,000 head of cattle from the department of Choluteca. The sole support of the department of Del Valle was its mule trains. The Zelaya army confiscated all of these, leaving the people penniless and without a means of subsistence."

"Arriving at Tegucigalpa, Zelaya's generals robbed the homes of the citizens, collecting about $100,000 pesos, together with all the merchandise in the stores and warehouses. In addition the soldiers committed horrible crimes upon women. The country had recently purchased from Germany 200,000 rounds of ammunition, valued at $300,000, United States currency. This also was seized and carried off. In addition to all these humiliations and losses, the Honduran nation to pay an indemnity of $500,000 silver."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

EXCITING GUN PLAY LIVENS UP IDAHO

Woman Takes a Hand and Shoots at Her Thirsty Spouse—Arrested.

Gun fights, in which one man was brought to Wallace, Idaho, with a smashed head, a bartender barely escaped with his life and in which Mrs. Frank Stone took five shots at her husband, while the latter was prevented from retaliating owing to the fact that his brother-in-law, Lee Stone, had already got the drop on him, ended to relieve the monotony of domestic quiet at Mace, near Wallace, one night. Stone had been out drinking, and on his appearance at home was met by Mrs. Stone. In the high words which followed, Mrs. Stone grabbed a gun and fired five shots at her spouse. As bullets whistled past his ears at short range, Stone got scared and pulled a gun on his own account, but at the same moment his brother-in-law appeared on the scene with still another gun. The affair passed over without casualty on either side.

Later in the evening, Frank Buster and Stone got in a quarrel with Teddy Dunkirk in a saloon, with the result that Buster pulled a gun and swatted Dunkirk over the head. Dunkirk was taken to a hospital, and Stone and Buster were arrested, Stone being allowed to go on account of nonparticipation in that crime. He was released immediately after the assault on Dunkirk. Buster retreated to a saloon and started to unload his gun, when it exploded. The bullet came within a hair's breadth of the bartender's head, smashing a big $200 mirror. All the men are miners—Portland, Ore., Telegram.

MELON RATHER LARGE.

Robert Longbottom, a farmer near Shafter Lake, raised a eighty-pound melon. It is of the Georgia sweet variety from Texas grown seed. The seed was planted July 2, the vine blossomed August 7, and the melon matured September 18, making an average growth of two pounds a day from the time the blossom dropped off the vine until the melon ripened, and during its growth the melon registered a maximum gain of six pounds during a single twenty-four hours.—Galveston News.

BRINGS IN MAHOGANY.

Thirty-six days out from Axim, South Africa, the British steamer Richmond arrived in port at Pensacola on her maiden voyage, which was not a very successful one. The ship was carrying a big ship is concerned. The vessel brought in the largest cargo of mahogany logs to be landed in a Gulf port in many years. Three thousand of the immense logs composed the cargo, and were unloaded at the Tarragona wharf of the Louisville and Nashville, and shipped to Menzie Brothers & Co., of Louisville.

PINTSCH GAS USED.

The Pintsch gas lighting system is now in use on over 150,000 railway cars and locomotives, according to a statement issued by the parent Pintsch company at Berlin. The increase in four years has been over 35,000 cars. Germany leads in the number of cars equipped, the total number being 32,846 and nearly 8,000 locomotives in Germany are also equipped. The United States comes next with 22,463 cars equipped, and then follow England, with 20,463 cars, India with 15,988 cars, and France with 11,914 cars. It may be noted, however, that the large size of American cars compared with European and the much more lavish use of light in American cars make it practically certain that the United States leads all other countries.—Engineering News.
